TO-DAY'S CABLES.

(Reuter's Service to the China Mail.)

NEAR EAST CRISIS OVER.
PRELIMINARY CONVERSATIONS ARRANGED.
UNITED ALLIED FRONT NEEDED.

LONDON, November 14.
The British, French and Italian consultations preliminary to the Lausanne conference, have now been undertaken, the British Government to-day communicating its views on the Near East to Paris and Rome. After this the Allies will discuss their views diplomatically. If the discussions are satisfactory Lord Curzon will go to Paris at the end of the week to interview M. Poincaré. Then M. Poincaré and Lord Curzon probably proceed to Lausanne to interview Signor Mussolini.

Lord Curzon insists that he will not agree to the opening of the conference until the Allies have agreed to the programme. The British Government has received the views of M. Poincaré who agrees regarding the supreme necessity of a united Allied front. He says he is not aware of the existence of an Anglo-French crisis.

PARIS, November 14.
The Petit Parisien states that Spain, Sweden and Denmark have asked to participate in the Lausanne conference. France has agreed to their delegates being heard when their economic and financial interests are being discussed.

SENSATIONAL REPORT DISCOUNTED.
LONDON, November 14.
An authoritative statement says that British circles do not attach credence to the sensational suggestion in an Italian semi-official message from Constantinople that if Angora obtained from Russia and no serious incidents occurred, the Allies would be ready to agree to Kemal's request for withdrawal of Allied troops, pointing out that the Allied high commissioners have not been authorised to make any such promise, while the Mudania convention clearly stipulates that Constantinople shall not be evacuated until a definite peace treaty has been concluded.

LEAVING FOR LAUSANNE.
CONSTANTINOPLE, November 15.
Sir Horace Rumbold, the British High Commissioner, goes to Lausanne to-morrow with the Italian High Commissioner, Marquis Garzoni, who is the principal Italian delegate.

AMERICA'S OBSERVERS.
WASHINGTON, November 15.
It is announced that the Government has chosen Mr. Child, Ambassador at Rome, and Mr. Grew, Minister to Switzerland, as observers for the Lausanne conference.

HOME ELECTIONS.
BONAR LAW CONFIDENT.
MAJORITY ASSURED.

LONDON, November 14.
Mr. Bonar Law, addressing the Conservative Club at Glasgow, said he had considerable confidence that the Government would obtain a working majority at the elections.

FOREIGN EXCHANGES BETTER.
BRIGHTER POLITICAL OUTLOOK.

LONDON, November 14.
Foreign exchange are better. This is attributed to brighter European political outlook. French francs were 68.60 and finally 68.70; Belgian 70.60 and 70.70. Sterling on New York was 448 and 447; German marks were 30,000.

AEROPLANE CRASHES.
THREE MEN KILLED.

LE BOUEN, November 14.
An aeroplane competing for the grand prix for commercial aeroplanes crashed near Ville Fontaine. The pilot, M. Poiré, and two mechanics were killed.

BRITAIN'S UNEMPLOYED.
30,000 MORE IN ONE WEEK.

LONDON, November 14.
The Ministry of Labour announces that the unemployed in Britain on November 6 numbered 1,367,000, an increase of 30,000 compared with the preceding week.

COMING BOXING EVENT.
BECKITT vs. GARDNER.

LONDON, November 15.
A fight has been arranged between Beckitt and Gardner in London early in 1923.

REPARATIONS PROBLEM.
GERMANY'S FRESH PROPOSALS.
MORATORIUM SOUGHT.

BERLIN, November 14.
The German note to the Reparations Commission as expected was published to-day. The main feature is the Reichsbank's offer already cabled. According to the newspapers, the note also demands definitive settlement of reparations and a three or four years' moratorium, Germany in return to undertake to increase production by prolonging working hours and to economise by reduction of the number of officials, also to issue an internal loan.

FINANCIAL CONFERENCE PROPOSED.
BERLIN, November 14.
The text of the German note generally confirms the forecast cabled earlier. The moratorium would apply to payments in cash and kind, though readiness is expressed to continue deliveries in kind as far as they do not entail an increase in the floating debt. The milliard gold marks advanced by the Reichsbank and foreign banks would be administered by an independent board and an internal loan would be issued when stabilisation of the mark was sufficiently advanced. Half the proceeds of the latter and the whole of the foreign loan would be utilised to cover treaty payments in cash and kind. The other half of the internal loan would be applied to the German budget.

Germany promises administrative economies, also to avoid unproductive expenditure and to take measures to increase production, while retaining the 8-hour day as the normal working day. She will restrict the importation of luxuries and alcohol.

The note demands equal economic treatment for Germany and proposes a conference of international financiers regarding the reparations problem.

CORRECT FORECAST.
[It was previously reported that the German Cabinet had decided to make fresh proposals to the Reparations Commission, based on the readiness of the Reichsbank to participate to the extent of several million gold marks in an international loan for the purpose of stabilising the mark. It was also stated that the Reichsbank had offered to advance 500 million gold marks, provided an equal amount was forthcoming from abroad, and subject to the conditions laid down by foreign experts in their report, which aimed, by stabilising the mark on a dollar basis of from 3,000 to 3,500 marks, with the help of the Reichsbank gold reserve, to free Germany for at least two years from reparations payments in cash and in kind.]

CHILEAN EARTHQUAKE HAVOC.
OVER THOUSAND KILLED.
DAMAGE REACHES MANY MILLION DOLLARS.

SANTIAGO DE CHILE, November 14.
Related reports indicate that the fatalities from the earthquake considerably exceed a thousand. It is reported from Valparaiso that 600 dead have been counted there. Many bodies are believed to be lying in the debris. It is expected the fatalities there will total a thousand.

The damage is expected to reach many million dollars. Strong earthquake shocks were felt at Lacerena and Constitucion last night.

MORE GERMAN FOOD RIOTS.
POLICE FIRE ON COLOGNE CROWD.

PARIS, November 14.
The newspapers report further food rioting at Cologne. The police fired on the rioters wounding a number.

Rioting has also been reported in West Phalia where a number of shops have been plundered.

The strike at Düsseldorf is spreading.

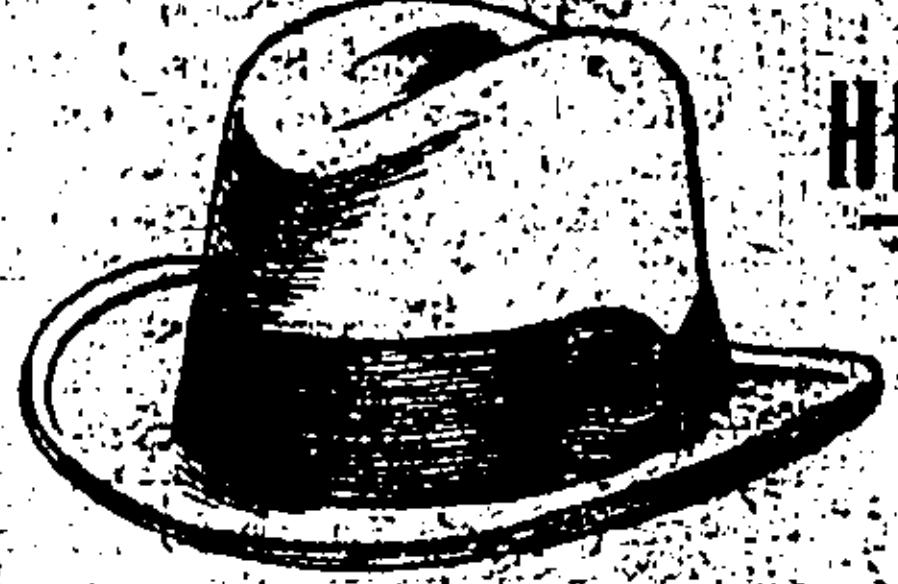

STRIKER KILLED.
BERLIN, November 14.
A message from Düsseldorf states that a collision between strikers and the police followed an attempt by the former to hold a meeting in defiance of police prohibition. One striker was killed.

BROADCASTING.
BRITAIN'S SERVICE.

LONDON, November 14.
The broadcasting of news was inaugurated in Britain to-day by the British Broadcasting Organisation, which holds the sole licence for broadcasting.

The service is supplied by Reuter's Agency and the Press Association.

COMEDIAN'S WISDOM.

MR. SEYMOUR HICKS IN

SERIOUS MOOD.

ADVICE TO THE YOUNG.

Mr. Seymour Hicks has written a book called "Difficulties: An Attempt to Help," which is published (Duckworth, 10s. 6d.). In these "little chats" he utters in modern terms the ages old warning which experience has always addressed to youth.The "difficulties" in life's rocky channel which he endeavours to chart are of course besetting passions and temptations which the average good man will wish—if knowledge and strength are added to him—to beat down and overcome.Some idea of the ground covered may be gained from his chapter headings, which include "Your Friends," "Religion," "Sport," "Occupation," "Gambling," "Your Personal Finance," "Drink,"
"Marriage," "Sex," and "Blackmail."
Each topic is discussed with complete frankness.Mr. Hicks is a popular actor, but he is not only that. His wider interest in life itself. He does many things well besides acting. A man who can make people laugh pleasantly draws his power from knowledge of the human heart. Shallow thinking will not make a great comedian.In "Difficulties" Mr. Hicks shows himself to wider circle as a brilliant and versatile personality and an arresting conversationalist.To middle-aged people who look back to the Gaiety company of 28 years ago he will always embody the spirit of vivacious, untiring Youth.
Life has brought him success and happiness, and he seems to have realized under a sense of duty that the best thing a man can do for his own happiness is to try to show others how happiness may be reached.To Young Eighteen, standing on the threshold of life, Mr. Hicks like a jolly uncle, says, "Slip your arm through mine, and let us cauterize."
By question and answer they discuss drees, manners, games, tobacco, wine, and so on to graver things.

HUMOUR AND FRANKNESS.

"We must in our discussions," Mr.
Hicks urges, "preserve at all times our sense of humour. For humour is the guardian angel who takes us with her wings when we are mentally inclined to flush with anger or become embarrassed of a settled melancholy."
As a help to the knowing of your friends would advise better a dull gentleman than a brilliant one; for while you can always be sure of whatthe former will do, the latter is an impossible quantity."Real friends, those who would stand sentry by you, as you would stand by them—a young man, you will be lucky if you can count this kind on the fingers of one hand. Stick to the men of your own generation. Those whom you love, love well.""A man who is not his own doctor at 30 deserves everything he collects."
"If you play golf, play it happily."A good deal of his advice is lightly administered. Here are a few samples:
"The complexion is by no means a sign of health. I have known testotallens with the skin of a pomegranate.
I have seen a drunkard with the pallor of the Tinted Venus. The eyes may be the windows of the soul, but the complexion is not always the index to the stomach.""Wash your head and dry it every day. Greasy hair is a most objectionable thing. It leaves its mark on cushions and young ladies' blouses, and don't forget that the ruin of crêpe de Chine has been the cause of many engagements being broken off.""In Rome don't do as the tourists do. You may not like macaroni, but the Italians have every right to it.
Don't push away the light claret of the Latins and tell them they are fools not to drink beer. There is more harm done to a nation by its countrymen who travel with round trip tickets than can be undone by a treaty."

OURMIN DE FER.

"The most dangerous form of gambling, because of the surroundings in which it is played, is," he writes, "chemin de fer." He says:"Every gambling-house keeper has his touts, male and female, at the smartest restaurants and most fashionable hotels, and they receive a fee for every player they introduce to the game. You would never dream, and be indignant if you were told,
that the smart young man about town who says, 'Let's go on' and have a bit of supper at 80 and 80's, and 'Let's play chemin de fer' is earning his living by that indifferent smile. But it is so."Off you go and find yourself at a house in an extremely fashionable neighbourhood, where everything is perfectly done. There are men servants to wait on you, beautiful ladies to smile at you, and gathered round the green baize you will meet old friends, slight acquaintances, and celebrities whom you know only by sight, but whose names are household words.
You are given your supper—free, gratis—and for nothing—and you can have the best cigars and vintage wines, and not be called upon to pay

POISON DRINK.

150 INSANITY CASES A WEEK.

The inhabitants of Chicago are going mad at the rate of 150 cases weekly. The increase in insanity is described by Dr. James Whitney Hall, chairman of the Medical Commission on Insanity, as alarming.
He attributes it entirely to the consumption of poisonous alcoholic concoctions sold as beverages by violators of the prohibition law.Before the advent of prohibition, according to the Commission, between 60 and 70 cases were admitted each week to Chicago hospitals. Now, under prohibition, the hospitals devoted to mental diseases are crowded beyond their capacity. Patients are sleeping on the floors and in improv-vised beds in storerooms, linen-rooms, and attics.Dr. Hall declares that the "victim of alcoholic liquor before prohibition became shiftless, unable or unwilling to care for himself, his wife, or his family, was unkempt and, in fact, a wastrel. But the present-day victim presents a far more terrible spectacle."He becomes a madman, a brain wrecker, or a housebreaker. He assaults innocent women and children. In many cases he dies from the effect of the drink. In others he goes blind or insane and cannot be cured.
It is a peculiar pathology, entirely different from what we had before the wholesale distribution of wood alcoholic or other rank poison."Dr. Hall's conclusion is based on written reports by a staff of specialists on mental diseases who have examined 78,601 cases of insanity.a son for them. You are delighted, and you wonder how it is all done; you do not realize that you are the welcome guest of Monsieur Capotte—an invisible gentleman of French extraction—who milks every drop of something like 20 per cent. before the player receives their winnings."The scope of Mr. Hicks's concluding chapters may be gathered clearly from the hope he expresses that "a word of warning may perhaps be the means of helping the thoughtless and preventing the reckless, who, while shunning a small-pox ward, look about indiscriminately with women, and embark, unarmed, on adventures in life's jungle, which alas! is inhabited by every form of human tiger."

HOME TRADE.

Messrs. James H. Hutton and Co., Ltd., Manchester, reported as follows on Wednesday, Oct. 11—

Mainly owing to the improved outlook in the Near Eastern situation the cotton markets have displayed a rather healthier tone, and values have steadily though slowly regained some of the recent fall. New York has been the chief source of strength, and it would seem that the American textile trade has lately been much more active. Liverpool, however, has again relapsed into a very dull state after a somewhat more brisk demand for actual cotton in the early part of the week, but in spite of this quietness in our local trade, the basis appears to be definitely hardening owing to a lessening of the selling pressure. In the Manchester market there is very little change to report. There has again been a miscellaneous enquiry about, but this has not been in any volume, and actual developments in business remain extremely disappointing. Almost all markets appear to be affected with some uncertainty owing to the recent unfavourable political happenings, and so long as the outlook remains unsettled, there is little prospect of a revival of activity. Difficulties connected with the clearing up of high priced goods, bought during the boom period, have been slowly reduced, but the fundamental trouble of fluctuating European exchanges remains as formidable as ever, and the further collapse of the German mark is a new depressing factor. Such a state of affairs, affecting as it does the distribution of so many varieties of produce, continues to be a very serious obstacle to the development of trading on anything like a normal scale. Yarn and cloth prices have shown a stiffening tendency in sympathy with the advance in cotton. Of the Indian outlets, Calcutta has been most prominent, with some enquiry for light staple styles, but other markets have been very quiet. Rangoon remains moderately active. China still shows little interest, only occasional transactions of small weight being arranged.

ECLIPSE PHOTOGRAPHS.

ASTRONOMER SURPRISED BY SUN'S STREAMERS.

The Lick California astronomer at Walla have developed some photographs of the eclipse of the sun. The 15ft. camera they used gave everything desired and stars to a magnitude of 9½ are visible. It is hoped that other plates will show stars of the tenth magnitude.

A preliminary statement is expected shortly upon the Einstein problem. The 40ft. camera plates show a coronal structure from the moon's edge with plumes radiating in all direction to the corona's uttermost extensions. Dr. Trumpler is surprised at the irregular way in which the streamers are distributed round the sun's disc, which are altogether unlike all previous eclipses.

"TRUTH, JUSTICE, PUBLIC SERVICE."

HONGKONG, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 15, 1922.

TARRED WITH THE SAME BRUSH.

"Absolutely" once had the doubtful distinction of being the most over-worked word in the English language. Long ago (that is in the year Armistice one) it was left far behind by "problem" with "crisis" panting close pursuit. First the Irish problem with its roots deep in the past, then the Silesian problem, the unemployment problem, the trade depression problem, and the ever brooding reparations problem, each coming to the fore in turn and distracting a tired world with its fresh crisis.

No sooner has one crisis been feverishly overcome and its parent problem shelved—they are rarely settled—than another menace has screamed its way into the headlines' biggest type. This last crisis, the Near East danger, has provided a whole series of sensations culminating in yesterday's disgraceful imbroglio. The story of the Near East mess reads more like cheap melodrama than history in the year of our Lord 1922, more like the miserable squabbles of barbarian States than the diplomatic intercourse of civilised powers. And this four years after the war to end wars, the peace to sweep away secret diplomatic intrigues! Yesterday's climax is enough to make one despair for humanity's sanity. It is certainly enough to make one discard the last slender shreds of faith in Europe's statesmanship. Britain, France, Italy, Greece and Turkey are all equally culpable. Each has contributed in greater or less degree to the folly that has brought Europe to the brink of war again. Each, seeking to further its special interests, has courted general disaster; each has made lasting settlement almost impossible.

Strong and sweeping charges, these! Examine the facts—they are illuminating. It is not necessary to probe the racial enmity and the religious hatred long rifts in the Near East; start from the "peace" settlement which should have counteracted these evil forces by ethnographical justice and historic right instead of fanning them into blaze again by piecemeal and partisan measures. Take, for instance, the scandal which found the French using the Turkish gain commercial advantage over the British in the Near East and the British using the Greeks for exactly the same purpose, neither putting a single man in the field but playing on the passions of these two smaller powers. Could anything be more reprehensible, more immoral? Again, take the greedy imperialism which led the Greeks to attack the Turks in Asia Minor. And then examine the shameless intrigues among the Great Powers when the Greek debacle showed Britain that she had backed the wrong horse and France that she had put her money on a very fractious steed. Have you forgotten the series of "incidents" which ended in the Malian convention but which nearly ended in general bloodshed? Have you forgotten the whole miserable business of the neutral zones, which not only brought us within an ace of war with Turkey but also strained the Entente in spite of glib Foreign Office professions to the contrary, almost to the very breaking point? Our part in that shameful business has been described as a masterpiece of humiliation. It was.

Now examine yesterday's crisis, serious enough to shock Reuters into candour. "Mobilise or get out." That is all the Allies' interminable discussions had brought them. Mere talk, said Reuters, and all ended. Exactly. Another masterpiece of humiliation—the Allies facing open war with Turkey or inglorious retreat under threat of incident following incident and crisis following crisis until the cup of their humiliation had been filled. Borrowing Reuters' simile, the Turks were determined to tread continually on the Allies' corns until the position, already "explosive," had become impossible. And the Allies were too busy wrangling among themselves over the martial law issue to tuck their tender toes out of harm's way. Indeed, a pretty spectacle.

And the Turks. Like the rest, their conduct has had only one guide—sheer selfish interest. They have attempted to bluff the Allies for what they can get. A semi-official message yesterday reported that the Allies had now agreed among themselves about the terms of the new treaty with Turkey. The British Government had decided not to go to Lausanne unless "satisfactory" inter-Allied preliminary conversations "were held" with a view to drafting a definite programme. How could the Turks interpret this? For them it could have only one meaning—the Allies intended to call the Lausanne "conference," not to discuss terms, but to exact demands. Believing this, they promptly used every means in their power to secure their ends first. It was the old story of the fait accompli again. A fraction more and it had met success.

The immediate crisis is now over. This morning's earlier cables report a "marked relaxation" in the tension, and later cables better foreign exchanges—more convincing proof than inspired Foreign Office statements. The British and the French have compromised their differences and the preliminary conversations now take place. France has gone the whole hog, and despite her lurking favour for the Kemalists—weakened by Angora's hostile acts during the last three months—has agreed to "associate herself with the employment of force if the Kemalists violate the Mudania agreement." The trouble is over, but it has been a bitter lesson. If diplomatic incompetence ever before emphasized the necessity for a league of nations the Near East mess has shouted it aloud.

OBITUARY.

FORMER HONGKONG HARBOUR MASTER.

LONDON, November 14. The death has occurred here of Naval Commander R. M. Rumsey, a former member of the Executive Council, Hongkong. Commander Rumsey, R.N., T.S.O., joined the Colonial Office in 1880, and was appointed Assistant Harbour Master, Hongkong in 1881. Four years later, on May 2, 1885, he was appointed Harbour Master, which post he held until January 10, 1904 when he retired on pension. During his services here Commander Rumsey was appointed a member of the Legislative Council on February 25, 1892, serving in this capacity until May 6, 1897, when he was gazetted to the Executive Council, in which he served until he retired. He was awarded the Imperial Service Order for long services in 1903.

Commander Rumsey was born in 1849, and therefore was 73 years of age at the time of his death. He entered the Royal Navy in 1862 and retired in 1882 after seeing service in North America, East India, Pacific and Home Stations. He was the holder of the Canadian (Fenian Raid) and Abyssinian medals. Before coming to Hongkong in the Colonial Service, Commander Rumsey was Commissioner of Volta District, Gold Coast, 1889; Assistant Colonial Secretary, Lagos, 1883 and Deputy Governor 1884.

WEST RIVER PIRATES.

TRAVELLING SHOW'S ACTORS KIDNAPPED.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

CANTON, Nov. 15. Another attack on junks has been reported. Cantonese theatrical troupes, housed in two large junks travel from one place to another, along the West River. At Ka Tung in the Pan U district the Chuk Chin Chow troupe was attacked by robbers who removed all the theatrical costumes and effects worth about $17,000. They also took away six of the leading actors for ransom. An armed launch happened to pass later and fired a shot at the pirates on the beach. This caused them to leave in a hurry and twelve of the large boxes of effects were left behind, reducing the loot to only $7,000. The troupe is now at Honan and unable to give performances as the "stars" have not yet been ransomed.

It has now been definitely established that the only junk-ferry attacked by the pirates at Fatsan Creek on Saturday night, was the Canton-Shiuhing ferry. This junk, the "Wing Tak," was being towed by the launch "Haag Sang." Shortly after eleven o'clock three launches were sighted round the bend in the river. They made a bee-line for the "Haag Sang." The crew was easily overpowered. Passengers were not molested. They say they owe their good fortune to the presence of an official in a first-class cabin. He is reported to have had over $10,000 on his person. The sum, it is stated, was intended for paying some troops at Shiuhing. After discovering this, the robbers devoted very little attention to other passengers. Over forty persons, including the official, were taken on board the "Haag Sang" which was directed shorewards. On reaching San San, about thirty of the captives were released but the official and his staff were detained. The junk was towed back to Canton by the Hokkaido ferry. Other junks on meeting the vicinity heard of the affair and turned back. On Sunday an armed patrol launch was sent to escort the junk that had turned back.

GREENFIELD PETITION.

HEARING CONCLUDED TO-DAY.

CHIEF JUSTICE RESERVES HIS DECISION.

Many well-known brokers attended when the hearing of the Greenfield bankruptcy petition was continued in the Supreme Court this morning before the Chief Justice (Sir William Rees Davies).

Mr. G. W. Alabaster, instructed by Messrs Wilkinson and Grist, is appearing in support of the petition which has been presented by two stock-brokers, Messrs. P. M. N. de Silva and M. A. Razack. Mr. Elsie Zeily, instructed by Mr. G. R. Haywood, is opposing on behalf of the debtor, Mr. Samuel Greenfield.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Zeily raised a third line of defence which he claimed to be unanswerable. He argued that under an Act of George II., passed in 1743, whose purpose was described in the preface as being to "prevent the infamous practice of stock-jobbing," stock-jobbing was not only illegal and all such dealings void but were subject to a penalty as well. Mr. Zeily contended that nothing in any one of the Ordinances in the Colony had in the slightest altered it and that it was at the present moment the law of this Colony. This Act, he said, made the petitioners' endeavour to get the process of this Court an utter illegality and subjected them to penalties.

The Judge: Mr. Alabaster contended that the Ordinance of 1891 modifies the law as to gambling. I would like to hear what you say on it. Mr. Zeily: I am very much obliged to your Lordship for drawing my attention to it. I submit it applies only to games—horse racing, football, cricket and so on, and has no bearing in this connection.

Replying, Mr. Alabaster argued that the Act of George II. quoted by Mr. Zeily was limited to speculation in public funds and securities, joint stock companies, and "other public securities whatsoever." It was repealed in 1860 and never had any application to transactions of the kind before the Court. Even when the Act was in force gambling in shares and foreign stocks was held not to be illegal, either under the Act or at common law.

Dealing this morning with Mr. Zeily's contention that there was no act of bankruptcy, Mr. Alabaster said it was clear that in this case the debtor did give notice to his creditors that he had suspended or was about to suspend payment of his debts. In support of this submission Mr. Alabaster read legal authorities to the Court for nearly two hours. Afterwards he was proceeding to deal with Mr. Zeily's point that the Court had a discretion to dismiss the petition when His Lordship intimated that he did not want to hear counsel any further on that.

Dealing with the Sharebrokers' Association bylaws, Mr. Alabaster said that their purpose was not to assist people to buy shares which they had not got the money to pay for and to pay differences but they had the contrary effect of ensuring that in every case there would be an actual delivery of shares from the seller to the buyer on settlement day. When a man instructed a broker to sell so many thousand shares the broker was authorised by a clause in the agreement, if at any time the market rose and he was doubtful whether the man had the money to go into the market to buy the shares to enable him to deliver, to say to the man: "Now look here. You have got to deliver so many shares on September settlement day. I want you to convince me, so that you will either put up enough money to show you can do it or authorise me as your agent to buy these shares on your behalf so that it can be done."

Mr. Alabaster maintained that there was no gambling in fact because these contracts were put through between Greenfield and an outsider in every case. The uncontradicted evidence showed that for the reasons he had given the petitioners had a right to the receiving order asked for. Mr. Zeily had submitted that the Court had a discretion to refuse the petition because Mr. Greenfield had been advised that he had a right to a counter claim. He (Mr. Alabaster) would not care to take the responsibility of so advising Mr. Greenfield but even assuming he had such a right that was no ground for refusing the petition.

At 1.15 His Honour announced that he would consider his judgment and the Court adjourned.

WEST RIVER UNREST.

WUCHOW IN A STATE OF SIEGE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

CANTON, November 15. Martial law has been declared in Wuchow. All passengers' baggage is being searched and guards are mounted in all parts of the City. The exodus of the civil population is increasing and the conditions at the city are similar to those prevailing when the Kwangtung troops made their bombardment last year. Business is practically at a standstill. It is almost impossible for goods to be moved any considerable distance either by land or river. Every day sees fewer junks and motor launches as the owners do not wish to take the risk of having them commandeered.

General Chen Chiung ming has ordered the despatch of the First and Third Divisions, formerly commanded by Tang Hsiang, who was assassinated, and General Ngai Rang ping, respectively, to be stationed in Wuchow, preparatory to joining the expedition against the Yunnan troops at Tang Yuen. Hung Leuk, who commands the troops in Honan, has been instructed to move all his troops beyond the Shiuhing Gorge. The Kwangtung authorities realise the difficulties confronting the expedition up the West River; transport of men, stores, ammunition, &c. will not be easy. General Chen has detailed a scheme for converting Wuchow into a great military base to facilitate operations. A number of vessels at Kungmoon have been requisitioned for transport use and are on their way to Wuchow.

While preparations are going forward to augment the expedition, precautions against trouble inside Canton are not being relaxed. Special attention has been devoted to the Canton-Kowloon Railway Station at Taishatou and "Hin Sing" (gendarmes) patrol the railway as far as the Yui Yui Bridge.

UNUSUAL RENTS CASE

WHEN IS A HOUSE PULLED DOWN?

Leung Yew-shun, of No. 229, Queen's Road Central, owner of Nos. 2 and 6, Kinsau Lane, was the defendant in an interesting case under the Rents Ordinance, before Mr. J. R. Wood this morning.

The complainants in the case were Yiu Hop of No. 4, Gutzliff Street, late occupier of the ground floor of No. 6, Kinsau Lane and Au Yuk-tai, of No. 17, Graham Street, late occupier of the first floor of No. 2, Kinsau Lane.

They charged the defendant with having, with mala fide intent, induced them to quit the said premises, by sending them notices of intended possession of the premises for a purpose which purported to be in accordance with Rents Ordinance No. 25, for 1921.

Mr. F. G. Vaux appeared for the complainants and Mr. F. E. Nash for the defendant.

Mr. Vaux said that the complainants received three months' notice to quit the premises, on April 26 last. The notices were given on the ground that the landlord required the premises for the purpose of pulling down and rebuilding. In compliance with these notices and in accordance with the Rents Ordinance No. 13 of 1921 and No. 25, of 1921, the complainants quit the premises. Later, they found that although alterations were made to the premises, the action set out in the notices had not been undertaken.

Mr. Nash asked for a week's remand. He said that the question at issue was whether the work which had been done by the defendant came under the Rents Ordinance as "rebuilding."

Mr. Vaux said that he intended to ask for a subpoena against the architect's assistant, who drew up the plans of the alterations.

The Magistrate asked Mr. Nash if he admitted that the houses had not been pulled down.

Mr. Nash said that they had been pulled down, but he would not say that they were completely pulled down. The intention when the notices were given, he said, was to pull the houses down, but afterwards, in consultation with the architect it was found not to be necessary to pull the houses down completely to make the alterations required.

The Magistrate adjourned the case until November 22, leaving the question of the subpoena to be arranged by the solicitors.

MARINE MISDOINGS.

OBSTRUCTING THE FAIRWAY.

At the Marine Court yesterday, the mistresses of three cargo boats were fined $10 each (or 14 days' jail) for having anchored their boats in such a manner as to cause obstruction in the eastern fairway.

CUNNING BOAT WOMEN.

Patrolling the harbour the other day, Sergt. Carey saw two boat women throw a large box overboard as the police launch approached. A passenger sampan which was pushing off from alongside the s.s. "Teucer." The Sergeant arrested the mistress of the boat and charged her before the Marine Magistrate with having thrown articles overboard to avoid seizure. The woman denied that she was leaving the s.s. of the "Teucer," but said she was sailing from Samshui-poo when arrested.

A fine of $25 (or one month's jail) was passed.

A NIGHT CHASE.

A motor-boat was observed on the night of November 7, putting into Shaikwan Bay with a head-light faintly glimmering and no side-light. She was hailed by a police launch, but instead of stopping, she put on more speed. The police launch gave chase and the motor-boat was overtaken some distance to the south. During the chase Sergt. Carey saw things being thrown over the side of the motor boat.

Answering charges of having failed to stop when called upon to do so; throwing things overboard to prevent seizure; and failing to carry regulation lights, the man who was in charge of the motor-boat told Commander Beckwith, R.N., yesterday, that he was not the coxswain of the boat. He was ordered by three strangers to take the boat out and had to do what he was told. He did not throw anything overboard.

The Magistrate, in view of the many robberies now taking place in Hongkong, took a very serious view of the case. I find the first and third charges proved. I dismiss the second charge. I sentence the defendant to one month's imprisonment with hard labour on the first charge and a fine of $50 on the third charge.

CHOW DOG TERROR.

CHARGE AGAINST CHINESE OWNER.

A chow dog is said to have been the terror of Robinson Road for some time. Yesterday it is alleged to have bitten an amah and a coolie employed by Mr. A. G. da Rocha, the D'Aguilar Street auctioneer.

The master was summoned before Mr. R. E. Lindell this morning at the instance of Sub-Inspector Marks for having kept a ferocious dog.

The Inspector told the Magistrate very indignantly, that when he went to the defendant's house, No. 9, Robinson Road with a Chinese detective to investigate the matter, they were "absolutely ignored" by the people of the house. They were kept waiting a long time for the dog's licence, a servant coolly informing them that the mistress was upstairs washing her face. Eventually they had to come away without seeing the master. The witness reported the matter to the Captain Superintendent of Police and was instructed to take out a summons. The Inspector asked the Magistrate for an order to have the dog destroyed.

When the owner's name was called, one of his servants appeared.

The Magistrate told this man that he would make the order unless proper control was exercised on the dog. To the Inspector: Is the dog licensed?

Inspector: I don't know. I could not see the licence.

Replying to the Magistrate, the servant said the licence was lost.

Magistrate: Tell your master that if he fails to appear in Court next week, I will issue a warrant to have him brought here.

DIRTY SINK WATER.

SINCERE COMPANY FINED.

Sincere's were summoned before Mr. R. E. Lindell this morning for having allowed dirty water from their sinks to flow into the side channel on Crown land.

A representative of the company said they had referred the matter to their architect when the first notice came and had thought he was dealing with it. They had also passed on all the reminders they had received to the architect.

The Magistrate said that the company's responsibility did not end with the employing of an architect. They had to see that the nuisance was abated.

A fine of $10 was imposed and an order was made for the nuisance to be removed within three days.

TO-DAY'S CRICKET.

SHANGHAI BEAT THE SERVICES BY AN INNINGS.

REMARKABLE ROWLING BY O'HARA

On resumption of play this morning the board read 27-5-8 with Oliver and Davies at the wicket. Davies was caught off O'Hara's 3rd ball and Spinks who came in next had a lucky escape, Wilson just failing to get at the ball. Oliver was not so lucky, as the ball going up to the same fields man, Wilson made no mistake this time and 6 wickets were down for 32.

POSITION HOPELESS.

The position of the Services now seemed hopeless and Howard the next man to come in, was immediately tied up by O'Hara. However he managed to scrape a few—that is the only way to describe it—and Leach came on in place of Wilson. Spinks hit him for a nice 4 to the old pavilion but next ball played on. He was unlucky as he seemed to play the ball well with the centre of his bat and it just hit the heel of his boot. Seven wickets now down for 46 runs. Howard was caught next over off O'Hara. The ball touched the wicket keeper's glove, came to Leach who did not quite get it and Ollerdosen produced the ball. Ex-actly how he got it was difficult to see from the pavilion.

Hayter and Beattie now made the only stand of the innings. Clifford was put on the place of Leach and he cost quite a number of runs. Beattie had one life, being dropped near the screen by H.B. Ollerdosen but was shortly after bowled with the score at 66.

Hayter got a couple of nice fours off Clifford but did not last much longer being nicely taken by Leach off O'Hara with the total at 89. The visitors thus won by an innings and 16 runs.

CHINA FOR MUSIC.

CHINESE HARMONIES FOR BOSTON.

Mr. Henry Kiebbheim, musician and composer, who is making his third visit to the Orient to steep himself in its music, is confident that the musical principles of the Orient will some day dominate Western music. "I might go further," went on Mr. Kiebbheim, in conversation with a representative of the N. O. Daily News last week "and say that if the musical genius of China develops it will, 500 years from now, set the musical standard for the world."

"If music is the organization of sound," continued the enthusiast, "then the Chinese have succeeded better in its organization than any other people. Rhythm is far superior to melody and this is where the Chinese excel. Debussy, who studied Japanese music realized it and that is what gives his music its exquisite perfume. Ravel knows it, and that is why he stands foremost among modern composers."

"No, I didn't always feel in this way about the music of the Orient. My training has been entirely in Western music, for many years as one of the first violins in the Boston Symphony Orchestra, then for four years as conductor of an orchestra in Winchester, until seven years ago I came to the East to get away from the Boston atmosphere. My first day in Japan was a revelation, my first sight of China an inspiration. I was enthralled at once by their architecture and art, but their music repelled me. Finally, when I was listening to the great Noh drama in Japan the thought swept across me: No nation with an art, a literature, a drama like this can have an inferior music. The fault must be in myself. So I listened again and again and again until the pulsating, vibrating rhythm underlying their musical compositions sank into my consciousness. I tried to empty myself of my Western critical attitude, to receive passively and in my compositions I feel I have been able to some slight extent to reproduce the sense of rhythm which, under some more capable exponent than I, will some day revolutionize musical theory."

Mr. Kiebbheim has written a number of orchestral pieces, arranged first for a small orchestra of 11 pieces and afterwards for one of 75 instruments. These were first produced at the Musical Festival at Pittsfield, Massachusetts, and proved so popular that the composer was asked to conduct their performance by the symphony orchestra of Chicago and Boston and gave two concerts in New York with the orchestra for a smaller number. He employs trombones and horns, and makes much use of bells, using a set of five which he got in Hangchow. The titles of these compositions indicate something of their quality. "Chinese Sketches," "Nocturnal Impressions of Peking," "Japanese Nocturne," based on the six tunes of a blind flute player; "Japanese Sketches," founded on the notes of the great bell of Chion-in, the chants of the priests and the Shikubachi; "Korean Sketches," suggested by the street labourer's song and the itinerant flute player; "Siamese Sketches," "Eutetrack," almost an exact transcription of the melody heard only in the Imperial Japanese court, a Chinese composition in 700 A.D., as modern Mr. Kiebbheim says, as anything of Ravel's. Their compositions are not published and exist only in manuscript as their author intends to better them as he learns more about the music of the Orient.

"Mind you," adds Mr. Kiebbheim, "I'm not saying that Chinese music is better than ours. Our instruments are incomparably superior. But if a Chinese musician with a flute of limited range can produce an effect which is more elaborate, Western composition produced with a full orchestra cannot rival, is not the flute player in his elimination of unessential the greater artist."

CRICKET NOTES. (BY "THROWN OUT")

I did not expect the Services team to beat the visitors but I expected them to put up a better show in the batting line. They started fairly well, but their fall was pathetic. With 6 wickets down for 104, they ought to have been good for a great many more than 126.

The later batsmen seemed to funk Wilson and when he got to the other end they fell an easy victim to Billings who looked slow in the air but came off the ground quickly with an off break. Most of the batsmen seemed too late in playing him, and mistakes were the result. Billings' average of 6 for 25 speaks for itself. Truly this visit has been a series of triumphs for the Shanghai Captain.

Le Fleming was unlucky to be run out and it is just possible that had this disaster not occurred, his side might have been in a much better position at the time. He was shaping well at the time and his contribution was the best on his side.

Davies had his usual merry innings which unfortunately and to the disappointment of the spectators only lasted a few minutes. If he steadies up to day, he and Oliver should save an innings defeat. None of the others deserve mention for their performance with the bat.

Only Davies deserves mention in the bowling line. He bowled as well as usual and might have been supported much better in the field, both in the matter of catches dropped and runs in front of the wicket.

Howard kept wicket very well as the extras will show. The extras, I believe, consisted of 2 leg byes and 1 wide and this is going some when you remember that he was standing right up to Davies, who can bump very nastily at times. Oliver deserves mention for the catch which dismissed Ollerdeszen and Gregory for the return which disposed of Clifford.

We in Hongkong know how Ollerdeszen can hit—but just in case we might forget he proceeded to let us see again. It was laid lines he did not get his century as he looked as if he could stay in all day. Leach came off again with exactly the same number of runs as in the interport and a very similar innings.

Poor Clifford, I think the ecclesiastical honours are too much for him, his wicket was sacrificed. He could not see for the bowler following but he was called and like the good sport he is, he ran. I think Leach made an error here, which at another time might be costly. Even if point is far out a short run here is always dangerous and many a batsman has been thrown out from a similar attempt to sneak a run.

Deeks, I also think is unfortunate these days. He went in when the batsmen had been merely hitting poor bowling. He got one ball from Spinks which he revelled in, then when he came to the other end, the bowling was changed; Davies came on, sent down one of his extra special expresses, and Deeks was out.

It is being made more and more evident that we are no match for the visitors and that the team they have sent down in an exceedingly strong one. Just think—in batting Howard Clifford and Divocha have done little, yet all are liable to make as many as Leach and have done it in previous ventures. In bowling their change bowling is as good as their best bowling, and in variety it quite overshadows anything Hongkong can show. And their fielding, well I hope the various Hongkong Clubs will take a lesson from the manner in which the field kept down runs in Hongkong's first venture. In fact they might reasonably claim that fielding won the interport.

At the end of the Shanghai innings yesterday, I thought we were in for some fireworks from Terry Wilson. He showed in that he can hit and I only wish someone had thrown him up a few half-volleys. I hear that he goes in for sleep all the time.

"RIGOLETTO."

THEATRE ROYAL AUDIENCE THRILLED.

ITALIAN COMPANY'S SUCCESS.

The Grand Italian Opera Company achieved the impossible in the Theatre Royal last night. They actually excelled their previous two performances—"It Trovatore" and "Torre." Moreover, excelled them brilliantly. But, then, remember the opera submitted—Verdi's magnificent "Rigoletto."

The house was packed, with never a vacant seat. The very first number roused it to the enthusiasm which was to reign supreme the whole evening and reach climax in the ovation which rewarded the superb quartette, "Bella figlia dell'amore." In the last act when the Prince is amusing himself with the bandit's sister and Rigoletto is ordering his daughter to proceed to Verona. The applause here was so clamant that the company were compelled to subvert their hitherto rigid rule and give an encore, which was in turn greeted with another ovation little less warm. Among the many other beautiful numbers which thrilled the audience were Gilda's lovely "Caro nome" in the second scene of the first act, Rigoletto's famous "Cortigiani, vil razza dannata" in the second act, Rigoletto and Gilda's exquisite duet "Piangi fanciulla" in the same scene, the Prince's ever fresh lyric, "La donna e mobile" in the ruined tavern scene, and that last touching duet between the stricken Rigoletto and the dying Gilda. Each alone would have redeemed any performance. Combined they made a triumph.

The chief honour fell to Mr. V. Scamazzi, whose Rigoletto was a masterpiece; Miss Delza, brilliant as Gilda; Mr. E. Cappelli, excellent in the role of the Prince; Mr. Mancini, impressively forbidding as the bravo Sparafucile; and Miss Vornos, attractive as his sister Maddalena. Mr. C.A.V. Castagnino again conducted his orchestra with fine skill, adding vastly to the enjoyment of a wholly splendid performance.

OPERA MATINEE.

By special request the Grand Italian Opera Company give "Il Trovatore," the brilliant opening success, as a matinee on Saturday afternoon. To-night the company submit "Traviata," a work which is certain to draw a crowded house.

A COMMON COMPLAINT AMONG SAILORS—

is Constipation because of the lack of fresh fruit and vegetables in their diet. To them, as to everyone else troubled by constipation, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a blessing, because they gently displace constipation, and cure the ailments which it causes, such as liveriness, lillies attacks, sick headaches, dizziness, foul breath, pimply and blotched skin. Pink Pills are tiny but thorough, act as gently as nature, and thus salutary perfection for both sexes. Druggists sell them, or sent post free at 60 cents the box, by Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 66 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

CRICKET.

SHANGHAI V. THE SERVICES.

THE VISITORS IN AN ALMOST UNASSAILABLE POSITION.

FINE BATTING BY OLLERDESZEN AND LEACH.

A few minutes after tea sufficed to finish off the Services innings for the small total of 126, Billings getting the last two wickets cheaply and finishing off with the fine average of 6 for 25.

Ollerdeszen and Hayward started the visitors' innings and began confidently against Davies and Haytor. Ollerdeszen gave a chance behind the wicket to Howard but escaped and Davies bowled Hayward at 17; but when Divocha joined Ollerdeszen the score rose rapidly, Ollerdeszen making some splendid hits from Haytor's slow. He hit a pretty six into Des Voeux Road and several fours to the on and then Beatty relieved this bowler. Divocha did not last very long being well taken in the slips off Davies but when Leach joined Ollerdeszen it was evident we were in for some scoring. Both by men played attractive cricket. Ollerdeszen was the more aggressive; but Leach brought rounds of applause for his pretty hitting of Davies past Extra Cover several times. Ollerdeszen was out with the score 121 for 3 being caught by Oliver off Le Fleming. It was a wonderful catch, the fieldman taking the ball running in with the left hand. Ollerdeszen's contribution was 82 and it was the result of a bright enterprising cricket. Ollerdeszen took his place with Leach and opened confidently. Leach was now nearing his 50 (and well set) looked good for a century. He played all the bowlers without effort and scored all round the wicket.

Spinks relieved Le Fleming and Clifford hit him nicely to the New Pavilion for 4 and three balls afterwards repaid exactly the same shot. Gregory who had relieved Davies at the top end was sending down some short balls which were duly punished. Leach hit Spinks nicely to the boundary twice bringing 170 on the board. Leach now hit a ball towards point who was standing, well out and called for a run. Gregory the bowler who had followed the ball well down rushed in and with his left hand swung the ball across the wickets where the wicket-keeper had the ball off before Clifford got home. It was very cleverly done and certainly had lines on Clifford who was well set and playing nicely. The score now read 173 for 4 wickets.

Leach now got a pretty 4 to bring up his 60 and to put 170 on the board, and next over had a couple of pretty fours to leg to bring his score to 70. He continued his merry hitting and put a beauty to the leg boundary off Spinks. However next ball in endeavouring to do the same he kicked the ball more and was caught on the boundary by Leach having made a splendid 79 the score now reading 193.

After an interval for tea Deeks who went in for Leach hit Spinks past mid on to bring up 200 at 4.15 but a few minutes afterwards on Davies going on again he was out l.b.w. and next over O'Hara was clean bowled off a drive into the ladies' pavilion 217-7-7.

Wilson followed and evidently wanted a merry innings for he began with 2 fours off Davies and one off Spinks. One of them a mis hit over third man's head. In attempting another similar shot he was smartly stumped, 230-8-15.

Billings came in next and opened quietly at the other end. Leach returned a very hot one to the bowler, Spinks, who caught it nicely low down with his right hand, bringing nine wickets down for 230. C. E. Ollerdeszen was last man in and played out the over from Spinks. Billings hit one through the slips next over and should have been caught by Spinks. A single followed and Ollerdeszen coming to the other end was bowled by Davies with the last ball of the over, the whole side being out for 231 with Billings' 1 not out.

DISASTROUS START.

The Services had half an hour's batting before stumps were drawn and a disastrous half-hour it proved. Oliver and Spinks again started the innings and the latter batsman was clean bowled by Wilson in his first over while an over later Le Fleming was out l.b.w. to O'Hara also for a duck. Leach followed but only lasted a few minutes, O'Hara after puzzling him twice beat him beautifully with a ball that came off the ground very quickly and whose speed beat the batsman. Mathews now came in and seemed to mean to play out the half-hour with Oliver. However after getting a nice drive to the boundary off Wilson he tried the same off the left hander only to be nicely caught by Ollerdeszen thus with only 17 on the board 4 wickets were down. Havolock Davies came in with an over to go and made a nice cut for 4 off Wilson after which stumps were down for the day, the total being 27 for 4.

The Services are in an almost hopeless position and the only thing that will save them is heavy scoring by the pair that are at present together.

SHANGHAI CHAMPIONS.

THE SWEEP NUMBERS.

The race for the Champions Sweepstakes attracted only nine starters, but all held a chance and each was ridden by a well-qualified and popular jockey says the N. C. D. News. From the start, the pace was fairly fast and steady. Old Bill, after jumping away at the start, relinquishing the lead to Ajax and being content to lie well placed as second. Hallowe'en, Christmas Card and Salvation were the next in order to the two leaders for the first three-quarters of a mile, but at the half mile post Castle Sycee and Hallowe'en had taken third and fourth positions. Round the bend into the home straight, Castle Sycee went up first, closely followed by Maresfield and Salvation. A fur long from home the issue was beyond doubt, as Maresfield, travelling in splendid style, went well ahead, while Castle Sycee dropped back. Salvation and Nationalist then challenged Old Bill and eventually passed him, a good race, for places resulting in Salvation gaining second honours three lengths behind Maresfield, with Nationalist third, another half length away, Old Bill fourth close up, and Castle Sycee fifth. Christmas Gift, a well-backed pony, was never prominent during the race and was last almost throughout until its stable-companion Christmas Card resigned the penultimate position in his favour. Maresfield's time for the race was more than two seconds worse than he accomplished in the Autumn Cup on the opening day, but colder weather and the northerly wind, which was against a fast final quarter, have to be taken in consideration.
